

A complete system
Three-track three-panel sliding door

Hanging-rail Triple-link System

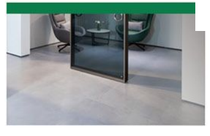

Control the leaf position freely, explore more living space

Open from either side, pass in both directions;
leaves overlap perfectly flush;
works as a moving screen anywhere in the opening, with no dirt traps.

Precise craft gaps, seamless look 6 mm recessed linear track

Tight side gaps plus precise top, bottom and middle gaps
The whole door reads clean and smooth, tightly sealed against sound - minimal craft aesthetics.

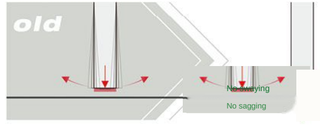

No floor guide, slide as you like

Free of floor guides, slide it far;
after the leaves overlap, slide as far as you wish;
nothing on the floor to trip over, and the space stays visually clean.

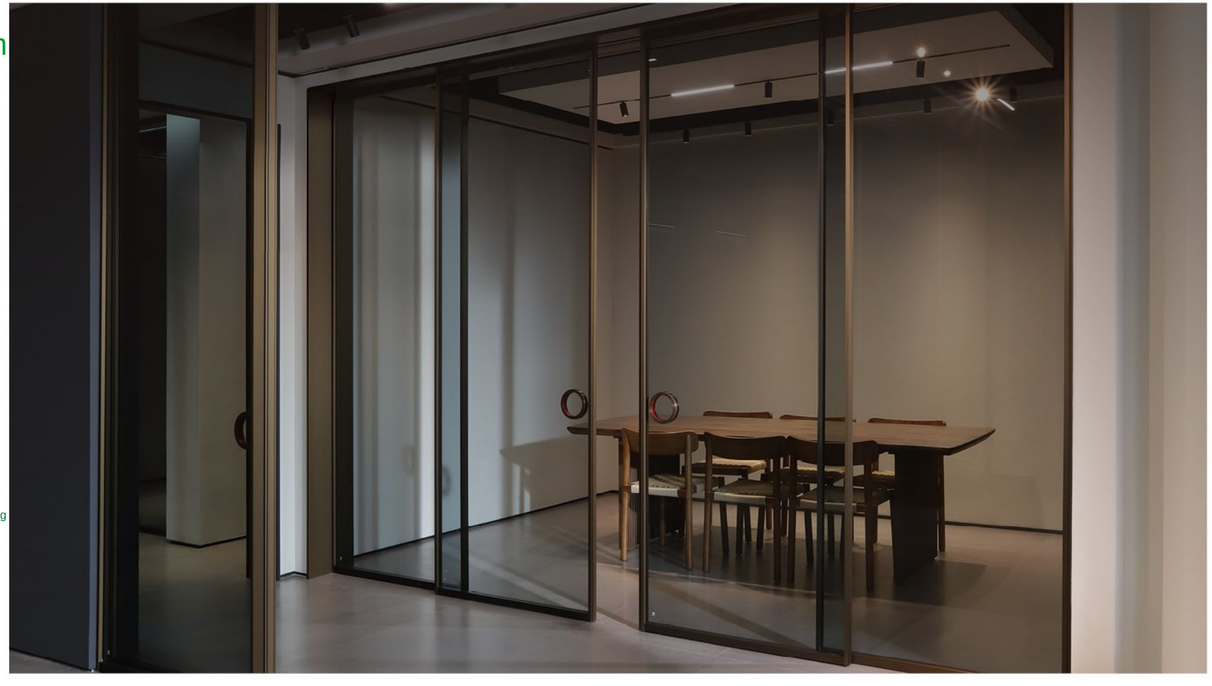

Hidden linkage, minimal look
All hardware concealed, linkage below, no side cover - a clean wall opening and pure minimal beauty.

Craft details Product performance

Aluminium sliding and hanging doors offer open views and a simple style, and are popular with younger buyers.

Minimalism is an attitude: strip away every excess decoration, pursue the simple and the refined, and return to what is essential.

With material life now more than abundant, minimalism argues for thrift, less waste and a return to nature.

Our products can be minimal in form, design and specification. We believe in restraint, and express a plain, simple grace through line in modern fashion.

OLD IRON GATE

For people today the longing for a good life runs through every stage of our lives - inner spirit and outer things alike - and that is exactly what our bespoke home industry is about.
A vintage French steel door has ample charm, which keeps it relevant today; in a mixed East-West villa it fuses the plain and the fashionable into one.

A vintage steel door also adds a distinctive artistic mood to a home. Its retro style plays against modern interiors with real visual impact.
In a living room, bedroom or study, a vintage steel door becomes a striking feature that makes the whole space more alive.
